

Ever think that it might be nice to be able to pick up a little income through teaching English while traveling? Don't have time to do a full program?

This summer the TESOL Program is offering its course TESL-501, English Language Teaching I as an intensive 7-week course from May 9th-June 22nd.

Learn the basic principles of teaching English to those that don't speak it. Learn how to teach English, even if you don't speak your students' native language. Be introduced to how to teach listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Get the basics of classroom management and lesson design. Observe classes to see how others are teaching, and get teaching experience by tutoring a student yourself. When you finish, you'll have the skills and materials to know that you are offering something with you offer your English teaching services.

The course is offered Mondays and Wednesdays from 5:30 to 8:00.

The instructor is Karen Taylor, AU's TESOL Methodologist in Residence. Prof. Taylor is also Instructional Technology Coordinator, Arlington Employment and Educational Program (REEP). She holds an M.A. in TESOL from the Monterey Institute for International Studies and a B.A. in English Literature from Georgetown University. She has taught English and Spanish and has trained teachers for World Teach and The University of Namibia. She has a Fulbright Grant for research in Mexico next year. Her interests include technology-enhanced instruction and Multiple Intelligences (MI) theory.
