

North America: Stagnation, Decline, or Renewal?

Outline of Contents

Foreword by Andrew Hurrell

1. Introduction: Placing North America in a world of regions
By Eric Hershberg and Tom Long
2. An Embarrassment of Regions: North America and Regional Orders
By Arturo Santa-Cruz
3. “I was all set to terminate”: New regionalism theory, the Trump presidency and North American integration
By Laura Macdonald
4. Continental trade hubs, cross-border industries, and regional stakeholders: Centripetal and centrifugal forces in North America
By Isidro Morales
5. North America in the world: Comparative regional dynamism in the 21st century
By Diana Panke and Soren Stapel
6. China and North America: How an Asian power disrupted the U.S. neighborhood
By Barbara Stallings
7. Ménage à deux: Canada and the limits of the North American Idea
By Asa McKercher
8. Uncooperative leadership: US public opinion and limited commitments to region-building
By Gaspare Genna and P.J. Vierra
9. Borders and the governance of North America
By Maria Celia Toro
10. When cooperation is not enough: North America’s failure to offer security as a regional public good
By Gema Kloppe-Santa Maria
11. Fortress North America? Migration governance and challenges
By Ernesto Castañeda, Michael Danielson and Jayesh Rathod
12. Markets and market failures in environmental governance
By Daniela Stevens
13. Conclusion: North America: Stagnation, decline, or renewal?
By Eric Hershberg and Tom Long

Afterword by Abraham F. Lowenthal