

A background image showing a close-up of several pairs of hands clapping, suggesting an awards ceremony or a celebratory event. The hands are in various stages of clapping, with some fully together and others just starting or ending. The lighting is warm and focused on the hands.

ROGER W. JONES
AWARD

for

EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY
 WASHINGTON, DC

Recognizing federal career executives for excellence in organizational development and commitment to effective continuity in government.

For more information, and to nominate an executive leader, go to AMERICAN.EDU/ROGERJONESAWARD

Nominate an executive leader for this honor, and show them their contributions to good government are valued.

Since 1978, American University's School of Public Affairs has honored more than 70 federal career executives in SES positions for their exceptional public service and dedication to the work and goals of government. Each year a distinguished panel selects two individuals for their demonstrated capabilities in these areas:

- Superior leadership with outstanding organizational achievement
- A strong commitment to effective continuity of government by promoting career development of future federal managers and executives

The award is named for Roger W. Jones (1908-1993), a career executive and presidential appointee in public service.
