Kevin Hubbard

Deputy Regional Administrator Alaskan Region
Federal Aviation Administration (FAA)
Key Cohort DOT AL 12

Mr. Hubbard serves as the Deputy Regional Administrator for the Federal Aviation Administration Alaskan Region. He represents the Regional Administrator's office on several subjects including collaboration and leadership across multiple lines of business, stakeholder outreach, business plans, and matters regarding aviation safety and efficiency in Alaska. Mr. Hubbard started his aviation career with the Oregon Air National Guard in 1992. His military experience includes Air Traffic Control and Air Defense Control at multiple locations, including Tuzla, Bosnia.

Mr. Hubbard first came to Alaska in January 2000 as an ATC specialist at Kenai Federal Contract Tower. He joined the FAA in 2002 at the Juneau, Alaska airport as an ATC Specialist. In 2005, transferred to Anchorage TRACON as an ATC specialist, and was promoted to an Operation Supervisor in 2017. His leadership at Anchorage TRACON included many challenges including the 2018 Anchorage 7.2 magnitude Earthquake, and leading through the Covid-19 pandemic at one of the busiest cargo airports in the world. Mr. Hubbard has worked for the Alaskan Regional Administrator's office since January 2022, where he was the Regional Administrator's Senior Advisor until May of 2024. Kevin holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Aeronautical Studies from the University of Alaska Anchorage. He is also a lifetime member of the American Legion Carl B. Fenton post, Dallas, Oregon.

Kevin has been married to his wife, Lisa for 32 years. They have four children including a son in the USMC and a son in the USN. They have one grandson, Hatcher. In his time away from work, he and Lisa are building a family cabin on their remote property near Trapper Creek, Alaska. Kevin has also worked as a fly-fishing guide in southeast Alaska.
