ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY, WASHINGTON COLLEGE OF LAW (WCL), Washington, DC

Associate Professor of Law, Director of the International Human Rights Law Clinic (IHRLC), 2019-Present
Assistant Professor of Law, Director of IHRLC, 2016-2019

Teach and supervise students in the IHRLC, an in-house clinic that provides students the opportunity to represent individuals alleging violations of human right norms before international and domestic tribunals and human rights bodies. The IHRLC docket also includes representation of non-governmental organizational clients in policy advocacy projects addressing transnational and international issues. Co-teach a weekly seminar on lawyering skills with the IHRLC Practitioner-in-Residence.

As Director, responsibilities include case and project selection, training and supervising the Practitioner-in-Residence, and redesigning and refining the seminar curriculum to complement each academic year's docket. Examples of the opportunities created for IHRLC students include: Litigating before the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights; litigating federal district and appellate court matters; representing asylum seekers, including detained migrants, in immigration court trials; representing unaccompanied Central American minors in administrative and court proceedings; drafting and submitting a report to the United Nations Universal Periodic Review Working Group; conducting fact-finding work by interviewing dozens of refugees in South East Asia; and presenting before United Nations committees in Geneva. The IHRLC policy advocacy projects have generated research and impact advocacy reports, including on human rights standards concerning pretrial juvenile detention, the persecution of political dissenters and religious minorities by the Vietnamese government, and human rights abuses facing LGBT Afro-descendants in South America.

Outside of the Clinical Program, have taught an Immigration and Nationality Law survey course and seminar class entitled The Rights of Non-Citizens: The Impact of Citizenship Status on Human & Civil Rights in the U.S. Also served as a faculty co-director for the Summer Law Program in The Hague.

Practitioner-in-Residence, Immigrant Justice Clinic (IJC), 2012-2016

Taught and supervised students in the IJC, an in-house clinic focusing on individual immigrant and migrants, and their communities, in the DC metropolitan area and overseas. Supervised cases brought before state and federal courts, administrative agencies and tribunals, and international bodies. Taught doctrinal classes in areas of immigration law, civil rights, and public policy. Co-taught weekly seminar on lawyering skills.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

ADVANCEMENT PROJECT, Washington, DC

2006-2012

Senior Attorney, 2009-2012

Staff Attorney, 2006-2008

Conducted extensive post-Hurricane Katrina advocacy through federal litigation (Anderson v. Donovan) and legislative advocacy on behalf of public housing residents, and policy advocacy on behalf of day laborers and migrant workers. Created and directed the Inclusive Development Program to work with community groups nationally to ensure low-income residents' participation in development and other economic opportunities. Also created and directed the Immigrant Justice Program in partnership with grassroots groups and national coalitions on challenging expansion of immigration enforcement. Conducted research related to voting rights in post-Katrina Louisiana and election protection work with the Voter Protection Program.

Managed and drafted numerous reports in partnership with community organizations in areas such as: Federal pilot project on public housing (The Rental Assistance Demonstration Project: A Health Impact Assessment, Mar. 2012); community development programs (Stimulating Smart Investments and Job Creation in Low-Income Communities, Feb. 2011); impact of affordable housing policies on communities (We Call These Projects Home: Solving the Housing Crisis from the Ground Up, May 2010); and exclusion of African-American workers and exploitation of immigrant workers in post-Katrina New Orleans (And Injustice for All: Workers' Lives in the Reconstruction of New Orleans, July 2007).

INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE OF THE EAST BAY, Oakland, CA 2005-2006
Managing Director, Deportation Defense Clinic
Provided legal representation to indigent individuals in removal proceedings. Represented clients in immigration court hearings, supervised attorney and law student volunteers recruited to provide deportation defense, and conducted strategic media advocacy and public policy and federal legislative advocacy on behalf of community organizational partners.

NATIONAL IMMIGRATION LAW CENTER, Oakland, CA 2003-2005
Staff Attorney
Developed and implemented legal and policy strategies to advance low-wage immigrant workers' rights, specifically in response to Hoffman Plastic Compounds v. NLRB, the U.S. Supreme Court decision barring undocumented workers from back pay remedy for unlawful firings under the National Labor Relations Act. Litigated Rivera v. Nibco, a Title VII lawsuit on behalf of immigrant women workers. Directed the Low-Wage Immigrant Worker alliance, a coalition of unions and immigrant groups to advance a federal agenda for low-income immigrant workers. Published educational materials and conducted trainings for unions, community advocates, and attorneys on the intersection of immigration and labor and employment laws.

NORTHWEST IMMIGRANT RIGHTS PROJECT, Seattle, WA 2001-2003
Skadden Arps Public Interest Fellow
Represented noncitizen domestic violence survivors, unaccompanied minors, and human trafficking survivors in administrative and immigration court proceedings. Conducted extensive post-9/11 advocacy, including leading a campaign to pass city law barring local immigration enforcement, the first in the country after 9/11.

NYU IMMIGRANT RIGHTS CLINIC, New York, NY 2000-2001
Student Attorney
Represented domestic worker in Fair Labor Standards Act claim, and immigrant workers in termination of deportation proceedings based on a novel theory relating to inter-agency guidelines on immigration enforcement during labor disputes (In the Matter of Herrera-Priego). Represented local community organizations in public policy and legislative campaigns.

ST. LUKE'S & ROOSEVELT HOSPITALS, New York, NY 1994-2001
NY State Certified Rape Crisis Counselor
